* This chronology generally follows that of Adam Clark, but starts one year later, i.e., 30 A. D. Dionysus Exiguus (532 A. D.) set up the western calendar, but he missed the date of Jesus' birth by about four years. Herod the Great died in March 4 B. C. Our Lord was born before that event, which is made clear by Matthew 2. We are told by Luke (3:1-3) that John the son of Zacharias began his preaching in the 15th year of Tiberius. That would have been the year 26 A. D. according to the western calendar. That is counting from the time (August 28, 11 A. D.) Tiberius became co-emperor with Augustus. The latter emperor died three years later on August 19, 14. Jesus age at the time of His death would have been about thirty-three and one half. The calendar date would have been April 7, 30.
